But I've got a middlin' tight grip, sir,
On the handful o' things I know.
I don't pan out on the prophets I don't pan out on the prophets,
And free-will, and that sort of thingBut I believe in God and the angels,
Ever since one night last Spring.

And my little Gabe came along— No four year old in the country— Croth best him for pretty and atrong Pert de hipper, and assay, Arexystready to swear and fight— And I'd larnt him to chaw terbacker, Just to keep his milk teeth white. The snow came down like a blanket
As I passed by Taggart's store;
I went in for a jug of molasses,
And left the team at the door. And left the team at the coor,
They scared at something and startedI heard one little squail,
And hell-to-split over the prairie
Went team, Little-Breeches and all, Hell-to-split over the prairie!

I come into town with some turnipe

I was almost floze with skeer;
But we rousted up some torches,
And sarched for Jom far and near.
At last we struck hosses and wages,
Snowed under a soft white mound
Upsot, dead beat—but of little Gabe
No hide nor hair was found. And here all hopes soured on me, Of my fellow-critters' aid-I jest flopped down on my marrow-bord Crotch-deep in the snow, and prayed.

By this, the torches was played out, And me and Isrul Parr Went off for some wood to a sheep-fold That he said was somewhat that. There me sain was somewhat state.
We found it at last, and a little shed
Where they shut up the lambs at night.
We looked in, and seen them huddled thar,
So warm, and sleepy, and white.
And THAR SOL Little Breaches, and chirped
As pert as ever you see,
"I want a chaw of terbacker,
And that's what's the matter of me."

How did he git that? Angels.
He could never have walked in that stor
They jest scooped down and toted him
To whar it was safe and warm.
And I think that saving a child,
And bringing him to his own,
Is a darned sight better business
Than losding around the Throne.
